Quest triumphs at the Mortgage Finance Gazette Awards 2012

Quest, the leading provider of survey, mortgage valuation and risk management software solutions, has been announced as the winner of the 2012 'Best Anti-Fraud' system category at the Mortgage Finance Gazette Awards.

This is the second time Quest has scooped the award having previously won the Best Anti-Fraud category in 2010, in addition to receiving a 'highly commended' in the 2011 event.

Quest's risk management technologies provide a bespoke layer of security that integrates with lender's existing mortgage processing, enabling them to select the risk alert type that matches their specific needs. It can host risk management alerts from a range of providers, providing unique flexibility for lenders.

Joanne Atkin, Editor of Mortgage Finance Gazette, said: "The judges were impressed with the sophisticated way Quest's risk management tools can detect potential mortgage fraud by analysing housing valuation data. With the big losses involved in fraudulent mortgage applications, systems like this are vital in the fight against fraud."

Added James Sherwood Rogers: "With a keen eye for innovation at Quest, we are focused on continuing to support clients with their future survey and mortgage valuation and risk management needs. This award demonstrates our focus on delivering technology that works hand-in-hand with our client's anti-fraud and risk management strategies."
