Quest launches new quotation tool offering centralised access to UK commercial property reports

QuestCommercial.co.uk online hub provides instant access to a range of services for non-domestic buildings, including mandatory energy and air conditioning reports

Quest, the UK's market leading provider of survey and mortgage valuation software, has launched an online ordering system on QuestCommercial.co.uk that provides commercial property owners, agents and landlords with a centralised quotation and ordering tool for accessing a wide range of services for commercial properties. This includes the ability to order mandatory Air Condition Reports, Display Energy Certificates and non-domestic Energy Performance Certificates.

With over 1.8 million non-domestic properties in England and Wales each requiring a number of site inspections, from energy assessments that are part of the EU Energy performance and building directive, through to survey and valuations on behalf of commercial property lenders, QuestCommercial now offers a service to connect qualified and accredited assessors with property professionals that require commercial reports.

The QuestCommercial dashboard intelligently interprets regulations based on the information provided to the system and presents the recommended reporting requirements for the client to review and action.

The centralised hub also provides direct links to a wide range of other useful services, including Landmark's Carbon Counter tool that enables professionals to calculate and audit carbon footprints to meet the mandatory CRC Energy Efficiency Scheme guidelines. Direct access to Landmark's Envirocheck and Promap services are also available within QuestCommercial, providing a convenient single source of environmental reports and mapping tools.

James Sherwood-Rogers, managing director, Quest said, "QuestCommercial.co.uk has been designed as a workflow hub that makes it as easy as possible for commercial property owners, agents, landlords, facilities managers and conveyancers to quickly access a wide range of services. It not only delivers a simple way to procure commercial EPCs and other mandatory energy compliance reports, but also offers direct access to other related services making it a convenient single-port-of-call for all non-domestic building professionals."
